Knox, Freed in Slaying, Eager to Start New Life

Life began again today for George T. Knox.

That the sun didn't shine was unimportant. Unimportant the rain. Let 'em call off the ball game. What did he care? He was free. Free to do as he pleased. Free to go, and to come. To walk the streets without the shadow of the law dogging his heels. Free to breathe.

GEORGE T. KNOX
Plans New Start in Life

Two years of uncertainty had come to an abrupt, a spectacular end. Boston's strangest murder prosecution had petered out in a verdict of "Not guilty."

True, the jurors had debated for over eight hours—had even asked instructions as to the various degrees of manslaughter—but, at the end of it, there was that decisive, compact, complete ultimatum. They said, in effect:

"George T. Knox, ex-state trooper, owner of a pretty gay flat in Commonwealth avenue, did not, on the afternoon of May 22, 1937, shoot and fatally wound Mrs. Helen Darragh Dale, with whom he lived over a period of years.

"Instead, that same Mrs. Helen Darragh Dale, having contemplated suicide for some time—particularly while intoxicated, a not infrequent occurrence—took one of his three guns, and, while he slept off a hangover, shot herself with the intent to take her own life."

MRS. HELEN DARRAGH DALE
Death still 'under investigation'

Such are the implied words behind the eleven simple ones of the old, old formula—

"We, the jury, find the defendant, George T. Knox, not guilty."

That is what the foreman actually said last night at 8:13 p. m., thirteen minutes after Judge Lewis H. Goldberg had given ten minutes of explanation about manslaughter, and eight hours and twenty-eight minutes after they had taken the case into their chambers for deliberation.

PLANS FOR NEW LIFE

Knox was scared when the verdict came. He'd been pretty confident around noontime—confident of a quick and easy decision.

But when the minutes rolled into hours, registered on the implacable face of the courtroom clock, he'd become fidgety. He'd walk awhile. And he'd sit awhile, only to walk again.

When it was over, though, he breathed deeply, steadied himself, and managed a smile as he gripped the hand of each of his peers who had given him back his freedom.

So he made a statement for the press, while the flashlights flared around him, and while big Jim McGrail, his counsel, sat smiling in a big courtroom chair.

"I was confident all the time . . ."

But his hand still shook a little.

"I'm going away now to start

F.R. CALLS YOUTH U.S. SALVATION

WASHINGTON, April 26 (INS)—The safety of present-day democracy depends upon the widespread diffusion of opportunities for developing leadership and character in youth, President Roosevelt declared today in opening the White House conference on "Children in a Democracy."

"The success of democratic institutions is measured, not by the extent of territory, financial power, machines or armament, but by the desires, the hopes and the deep-lying satisfactions of the individual men, women and children who make up its citizenship," the President said.

He recalled that in recent days he had addressed somewhat the same thought to world leaders.

Whereas earlier conferences treated child problems in the terms of child life, the President said today the government and the educators had moved a step forward. Speaking of the children, the President said:

"We no longer set them apart from democracy as if they were a segregated group. They are at one with democracy because they are dependent upon a democracy and democracy is dependent on them."

He added that the nation still had far to go, pointing out that in many parts of the country dependent children are not getting minimum requirements of food, shelter and clothing "and the federal government's contribution to their care is less generous than its contribution to the care of the aged."

BRITAIN ORDERS DRAFT; HITLER'S SPEECH ALL SET

Today's most important developments in the European crisis:

LONDON—British Cabinet approves unprecedented peace-time military conscription bill designed to increase fighting manpower as warning to axis powers. Some 300,000 young men of 20 and 21 would be drafted for six months' duty, Chamberlain announced in Commons.

BERLIN—Chancellor Hitler finishes "very positive" text of Friday Reichstag reply to President Roosevelt; spokesman says address stands despite British moves. London's envoy again snubbed by Nazis, but representative of Yugoslavia personally welcomed by Hitler.

Conscription For Britons

LONDON, April 26 (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain, in a statement carefully timed to precede Chancellor Hitler's address in Berlin Friday, announced to parliament today that all British men in their 21st year will become liable to six months of military training.

Announcing the first contingent of Britain's "World War babies" would train for six months and then be given a choice of entering the territorial army (national guard), or the army reserve, Chamberlain said he decided on conscription "to impress the world" with the nation's determination to resist any attempt at European domination.

The bill would call about 310,000 men to the colors.

The prime minister earlier announced that Britain was ready to discuss a "general settlement" with the German government if satisfied it was "welcome" and "likely to have useful results."

WILLING TO PARLEY

He said also that his government was ready to participate in any world conference, although no specific invitation had been received from President Roosevelt, who appealed to Italy and Germany for a 10 to 25-year peace agreement.

The Prime Minister said he would introduce a bill next week to put conscription into force, and the opposition labor party announced immediately it would fight the bill.

It generally was believed, however, that Chamberlain would have no trouble in getting the bill passed.

Chamberlain prefaced his conscription announcement with a

Nazis Snub British Envoy

BERLIN, April 26 (AP)—Adolf Hitler has completed the text of his Friday Reichstag speech and intends to stick to it no matter what Britain does, a Wilhelmstrasse spokesman said today.

One foreigner knows what Hitler will say when he addresses the Reichstag and the German nation in reply to President Roosevelt's appeal for guaranteed non-aggression—and that foreigner is Premier Mussolini of Italy.

Il Duce has been advised of every step in the Fuehrer's preparations.

Sir Nevile Henderson, Britain's ambassador, after waiting two days, succeeded today in conveying to Chancellor Hitler the message he brought from Prime Minister Chamberlain regarding British motives for introducing peacetime conscription.

SEES SUBORDINATE

The ambassador, however, had to content himself with seeing Baron Ernst Von Weizsaecker, secretary of state in the foreign office, instead of Foreign Minister Von Ribbentrop, with whom he desired to talk.

At the same time the British envoy was being received by a subordinate, the Fuehrer himself was welcoming with military honors Alexander Cincs-Markovich, foreign minister of Yugoslavia, a

Wife Seeking Adonis For Test Tube Baby

CHICAGO, April 26 (INS)—A "perfect specimen of manhood" was sought today by a pretty 28-year-old housewife to become the father of a "test tube" baby.

When the man is found, Mrs. Virginia Cleary of suburban Harvey insisted, who meets the specifications drawn up by a noted psychiatrist, she will seek motherhood by artificial means to fulfill her yearning for "a child of her own."

The attractive brunette has filed suit for divorce from John R. Cleary, 42, whom she married when she was 16. They have two adopted children.

After instituting the suit, Mrs. Cleary instructed her attorney to confer with a physician concerning a eugenic baby.

"PERFECT MALE"

Dr. Orlando Scott, well known psychiatrist, was consulted, and he listed the following specifications which must be met by the "perfect male":

1—Between 28 and 32 years of age.

2—Athletic in type, preferably light-haired.

3—Unmarried, good habits, moderate in smoking and drinking.

4—Strong, well-formed features.

5 — Strong personality, good ancestral background.

6—Weight between 160 and 175 pounds.

BIG SEARCH PLANNED

In addition, Dr. Scott said, the successful candidate must be able to pass the state medical examination required of all applicants for marriage licenses, and must submit to a thorough medical examination to determine there is no inheritable disease.

Physicians have pronounced her in perfect physical condition, Mrs. Cleary said, and capable of childbearing. If necessary, she said, the entire country will be scoured for the "perfect male." She will abide by Dr. Scott's decision in selection of the successful candidate.

"I have high hope for the success of my plan," the attractive housewife said, "but if failure is the result I will be reconciled to the fact I can never become a mother."

HUSBAND TO FIGHT

Cleary, however, indicated he would not grant his permission, pointing out he is now paying $10 a week temporary alimony for support of their two adopted children.

This Is the Sad Saga of Eddie —And the Long Way Home

There was still a rainbow around the shoulder of an Everett guy named Eddie today—and it was one of those rainbows made of flashing lights and bursting stars and heat flashes from an aching and remorseful head.

It is with no little nostalgia we learn that Eddie went home from a Boston banquet Monday night via Sullivan square, Charlestown and North Hampton, N. H.

This is a little in the way of roundabout to get to Everett, and Eddie is the first so to acknowledge, but it seems to have been the way he got home and he is still worried over what happened.

Goes Home the Long Way

He also got home without a sum between $25 and $30 he last remembers having in Sullivan square, where even the absence of trolley cars at 4 a. m. couldn't keep down the little bursts of song that bubbled to his lips.

There is quite a gap between Sullivan square and North Hampton in Eddie's recollection.

He remembers waving a trolley transfer at a fellow and girl in an automobile rolling through the square, and he thinks there was a deal whereby he bought five gallons of gas as his fare home.

It's a little confusing, but Eddie woke up lying in a gravel pit in North Hampton. Technically Eddie didn't wake up voluntarily.

Earl Mann of South road, North Hampton, who sighted him in the pit and thought he was dead, woke Eddie up.

Hopes Banquet Ends All Banquets

This was done a little gingerly because Eddie, in the early morning light, looked like something that had been left out too long in a war. His head was bunged up, his mouth was open, his tongue lolled out and altogether he was no bargain.

Eddie proved he wasn't dead by groping around in the gravel and coming up with his false teeth. He also found his watch. Then he announced he had been kidnaped.

Mann took him to Hampton, where Sheriff A. Manning Remick of Rye, N. H., and Police Chief Oliver Henkel fed him, dusted him off, tested him on his feet—and then decided to send him all the way to Everett in a police car.

So Eddie was still not feeling too good this day and if his industrial company never has another banquet he'll be well pleased.

LIGHTNING BOLTS STRIKE TWICE IN GREATER BOSTON

Lightning bolts struck twice in Greater Boston today during a violent half-hour thunder storm which marked freak weather conditions throughout New England.

STRUCK — Lightning of morning storm chose as its mark the 150-foot chimney of Medford box factory, and above photo shows the result.

The bolt hit a 150-foot brick chimney at the William H. Champlin Box Company in Fifth street, the Wellington section of Medford. Entering the factory, the lightning set off the sprinkler system and caused the Medford fire alarm to sound.

Although no fire resulted and no one was hurt, water damage was extensive.

Another bolt struck in Everett and caused a short circuit in wires, sounding the city's fire alarm.

Practically every variety of weather was registered at the weather bureau.

Less spectacular than the thunder and lightning, but rarer, according to the Weather Man, was the same thermometer reading of 44 degrees from 8 o'clock last night until 9 this morning, without change.

Federal scientists explained that the Boston area is being simultaneously chilled by cold air to the northeast and warmed by warm air in the southwest.

Intermittent showers were predicted.

Hospital Aide Finds Daughter Is Fire Victim

As Edward McLaughlin, porter, shined brass on the door of the emergency entrance of Boston City Hospital today, two policemen called to him to help lift a stretcher from an ambulance. McLaughlin ran over and found—his daughter.

Mary McLaughlin, 16, had been severely burned about the face and hands when astove in the kitchen of her home, Mt. Pleasant avenue, Roxbury, flared as she lighted it. She was alone in the house when the accident occurred.

Neighbors heard her screams as the stove back-fired, and called police. At the hospital, her father carried her to an examining room, where doctors treated her for first and second degree burns. Her condition is "serious."

Liquor License Racket Probed by Saltonstall

Governor Saltonstall, it was learned today, has stepped into the probe of Boston's alleged liquor license racket.

It is understood that the governor has an investigator watching the Suffolk County grand jury probe with a view toward possible reorganization of the Boston Licensing Board and its system of operation.

This board comes under state control and members are appointed by the governor nad the executive council.

It was further learned today that the grand jury will be given evidence to the effect that a woman clerk in the office of the licensing board was ordered, in July, 1938, by a man employe there to destroy lists of paid liquor licenses for the years from 1934 to 1937, inclusive.

These important records, containing the names of paid license holders, were subsequently destroyed, it is understood.

Thus far in the grand jury probe of Boston liquor licensing irregularities, 11 persons, including at least one woman, have been secretly indicted.

Four surrendered yesterday, including Rose Chapman, prominent in Boston night club circles, and the surrender of a fifth came today.

He is Edward De Graan, 43, of Stanton street, Dorchester, said to be the proprietor of a tavern in Shawmut avenue, South End.

An indictment against him charges 12 counts of keeping and exposing liquor for sale illegally, conspiracy to keep and expose, and keeping and maintaining a tenement (the tavern) for the illegal sale of liquor.

He was held for arraignment before Judge Frederick W. Fosdick in superior court on the indictment charges.

ORDERS PRISON PROBE

PROVIDENCE, April 26—Governor Vanderbilt today announced he had ordered an investigation of all state institutions, following charges of laxity in the administration of Rhode Island State Prison.

POLYGAMY CASE PUT OFF TO MAY 3

A striking brunette—identified variously by police as Miss Elizabeth Ready of Lowell, Mrs. Wilbur Herman of Somerville and Mrs. Kenneth Brenner of Roxbury—was in Roxbury district court today to answer polygamy charges.

Judge Frankland W. Miles deferred until May 3 hearing of police charges the girl married Brenner without the formality of divorcing Herman.

The 24-year-old saleswirl, who now lives on Hemenway street, Back Bay, appeared fully as attractive and equally as confused as on her first court appearance two weeks ago on the polygamy charge.

ARREST FOLLOWS BRIDAL

Her arrest came shortly after she and Brenner settled down to married life in a Dudley street, Roxbury, apartment, after their whirlwind courtship and elopement to New Hampshire.

Brenner told police they were at home one night when a strange man began to beat on their door.

"Don't open it," he said his bride told him. "My girl friend is having trouble with her husband. It's probably him, and he might make trouble for us."

As the banging continued, Brenner said, he left his bride in the room and slipped out a back door to call police.

"And there she stood with this intruder," he declared. "She smiled and said, pointing at the stranger: 'This is my husband.' Then pointing at me, she said, 'This is my friend.'

ASKS ANNULMENT

"You could have knocked me over with a whisper, but I didn't say anything. Then, afterwards, she repeated that he was her husband."

That's Brenner's story and he has backed it up by filing a petition for annulment in Suffolk probate court, according to Atty. John J. Fox.

As for Elizabeth, meeting and marrying Brenner, singer, apparently left her all in a dither.

Police quoted her as saying she can't recall marrying Brenner, but if he says they were married, it's probably true, and what is to be done about it?

POISON RING PROBE ENTRAPS DOZEN MORE

PHILADELPHIA, April 26 (AP)—Detectives rounded up at least a dozen more men and women today in an insurance-murder poison ring investigation and arrested three on homicide charges.

After hours of night "star chamber" sessions the investigators described how the four-state ring and its "customers" poisoned numerous victims to collect insurance money under the leadership of a middle-aged man who practised witchcraft and was known as "The Rabbi." He is still free.

One man has been convicted of first degree murder, a woman has pleaded guilty to three slayings and three other persons await trial on murder charges.

New developments in the investigation came rapidly after Mrs. Carina Favato, confessed poisoner of three men, disclosed some of the insurance-murder ring's deepest secrets.

An officer, who withheld his name, gave this description of the ring's operations in Pennsylvania, Delaware, New Jersey and New York:

"When members of the ring learned of a woman they thought might be interested in collecting insurance on the life of her husband, they would send an agent to see her.

"The agent would talk around the subject. Sometimes he would make love to the wife and suggest getting rid of the husband so they might be married.

"If the insurance policy was $1000, the ring would take a flat charge of $300 and 10 per cent of everything over the remaining $700 that would go to the wife from the first $1000."

3 Revere Men Held in Beating Of WPA Boss

FRAMINGHAM, April 26—Three WPA laborers were ordered held for the grand jury in district court today when their former foreman testified they had avenged their discharge from a project by giving him a merciless beating.

Still bearing scars from a beating he claimed he was given in a wooded section in Sudbury nine days ago, Frederick C. Bean of Plaisted road, Medford, named the three laborers as his assailants.

Testimony was offered that Arthur A. Nazzaro, 24, of Davis street; Anthony DeGrieco, 21, of Denton road, and George F. Campano, 25, of Temple street, all of Revere, had worked under Bean on a hurricane clearance project in Sudbury.

Bean said they were discharged after warnings for idling on the job, and the trio leaped upon him in a wooded section on April 17, inflicting two black eyes, fractures of two facial bones, and bruises on the face, chest and arms. He was hospitalized for two days after the assault, the court was told.

Judge Edward C. Blodgett ordered them held in $500 each for the grand jury on charges of unprovoked assault and battery.

N. H. TOWN BARS PWA CASH; VOTE OWN LOAN

MILFORD, N. H., April 26 (AP)—Milford citizens were on record today as wanting no help from Uncle Sam in building a $40,000 standpipe.

At a special town meeting they declined to accept a proposal for a PWA allotment to build the standpipe to add a half-million gallons of water to the town water supply.

Judge Benjamin F. Prescott, leading the opposition, said:

"Milford should stand on its own feet, invest its own money and employ its own people to work on the proposition."

After turning down the proposal on voice vote, the meeting voted, 75 to 1, to obtain a $40,000 loan on 20-year bonds.

SHOOTING SUITOR JAILED

While his three grown daughters sat white-faced, Peter Kogoy, 57, a Quincy city employe, received an 8-to-10-year State Prison sentence today in Dedham Superior Court for the attempted murder of a Braintree girl.

Kogoy, in a sealed verdict, had just been found guilty of shooting Miss Dorothy McDonald, 23 years old—the same age as that of Kogoy's youngest daughter.

3 SISTERS SILENT

Immediately after the sentence had been passed by Judge Frank J. Donahue, the three Kogoy sisters hurriedly left the courtroom, refusing to talk with reporters.

Judge Donahue imposed the sentence after District Attorney Edmund R. Dewing had urged a severe penalty.

"Kogoy is a vicious type of individual who should be removed from society for a long time," the prosecutor told the court.

The jury's verdict was sealed last night after it had deliberated for only an hour.

Kogoy's three daughters, 23, 24 and 25 years old, who had testified for their father, arrived in the courtroom just before the seal was broken and the guilty verdict read.

WOUNDED NEAR HOME

Miss McDonald, the shooting victim, was taken to Weymouth Hospital early in the morning of March 5 after she had been wounded in front of her Braintree home.

Her assailant, who fired two shots from an automobile, had followed her from Quincy, where she had attended a moving picture show, police said. Her right elbow was shattered by one of the shots.

She appeared to accuse Kogoy on the witness stand with her arm still in a sling.

She was discharged from the hospital March 23.

In his story to the jury, Kogoy said he had a date with Miss McDonald on the night she was wounded. He said she failed to show up. He added that the night previous she had asked him for $15 and that he had gone out and borrowed money in order to try and meet her request.

Film Kidnap Threats Bared

HOLLYWOOD, April 26 (INS)—While special police patrolled the grounds of Bing Crosby's Toluca Lake home today, it was reliably learned that a ruthless midwestern kidnap gang was preparing to strike at Hollywood's wealthiest motion picture families, and the information has prompted G-men to take stringent measures to guard film celebrities.

Reports of the elaborate guarding plans came upon the disclosure threats had been made against the four children of Crosby, noted film and radio crooner.

Acting on information said to have been wired by their agents in a mid-western city, local Department of Justice agents have conferred with Crosby on the kidnap threat, the star admitted.

"I talked with men from the Department of Justice about a week ago," Crosby said. "They asked me about the kidnap threats and we discussed them. "I'm still carrying a gun," he commented tersely.

From a responsible source came the sensational information that not only the Crosbys but other prominent Hollywood families had been advised to take precautions.

Crosby and his wife, the former Dixie Lee, have four children, Phillip Lang and Dennis Michael, five-year-old twins, Harry, 18 months and Gary Evan, six.

Receipt of a threatening letter in the fan mail about 10 days ago was disclosed by Everett Crosby, brother and manager of Bing.

Funds Vanish As Lynn League Holds Banquet

Members of the Friendship Bowling League of Lynn—one in particular—nursed a tremendous headache today as the result of the loss of funds from their treasury just as they sat down last night to enjoy their annual banquet.

An officer of the organization left home with banquet money and prizes, a total of $153, according to Lynn police, and disappeared on the way to the meeting.

Shortly after midnight, he was picked up in Malden. Police reported he said he stopped for a glass of beer en route to the banquet. What happened afterward, he couldn't recall.

The banquet money, prizes, even his auto, were missing. Lynn police started an investigation today.

SEAMEN'S STRIKE ROWS SEEN

Reinforcing shore picket lines with two fast motor launches, leaders of the seamen's union today warned Everett oil concerns trouble will be caused by any attempt to dock tankers or unload petroleum at the Mystic river wharves.

New fears of violence grew when one company succeeded in carrying a crew of strikebreakers to a tanker in the river, a few minutes after pickets turned back two carloads of seamen bound for the ships.

TROUBLE SEEN

"Trouble is likely unless this strikebreaking stops immediately," was the terse warning of Thomas McGowan, agent for the local National Maritime Union.

Meanwhile, hiring of convicts for strikebreaking work was strongly denied by the marine department of the Socony-Vacuum Oil company today, following Corrections Commissioner Arthur T. Lyman's disclosure that several reformatory inmates awaiting parole had been offered jobs on some tankers.

"Socony-Vacuum Oil Company, Inc., is not hiring any convicts awaiting parole, for employment on the company's tankers, nor has it offered any bonus to such convicts for that purpose," the firm stated.

"The company is doing its best to keep its tankers in operation and is seeking the most reliable men possible for these jobs."

PEACE BID MAPPED

Hope for a break in the deadlock of Greater Boston fuel truck drivers and oil distributors brightened today, as final preparations were made to submit a peace proposal for a vote of the drivers.

The oil truck men will meet in Wells Memorial Hall tomorrow to act on the compromise plan.

Ask Mediation Of Truck Wars

Governor Saltonstall today was urged to support a bill requiring mediation of labor disputes in the motor transportation industry by Ralph H. Cahoon, general counsel for the Employers Group, Motor Freight Carriers of Boston.

Cahoon wrote to the Governor urging passage of the bill "for the welfare of the people of the Commonwealth," and recommending a law similar to that in operation in the railroad industry.

"Such mediation proceedings, with the facts of the dispute made known to the public would, we believe, eliminate strikes in the industry, with both labor and employer receiving justice in the settlement of disputes," Cahoon said.

"We urge, therefore, your immediate support for favorable action on House Bill 1926 for the welfare of the people of this commonwealth."

See 3rd Term Move In F. D. Merger Plan

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 26—President Roosevelt's first government reorganization program today provoked Republican warnings of a third-term drive and conjecture over the identity of the "big four" who will head his giant new agencies.

Republicans and some conservative Democrats declared the President was bringing the budget, spending, lending and security agencies under his personal direction as a preface to entering the 1940 campaign. Senator Townsend of Delaware, head of the Republican senatorial committee, observed:

"The potential facts in the President's plan indicate he is seeking a third term. He is getting the money, information, spending and lending agencies directly into his own hands. He must be a candidate."

Speculation was widespread over the identity of the men the President will choose to head the new organizations. One of the four will be the new budget director, Harold D. Smith, of Michigan, who will remain in his present post with new responsibilities.

The others are expected to be RFC Chairman Jesse H. Jones, of Texas, as administrator of the new federal loan agency; Colonel F. C. Harrington, army career man, as administrator of the new federal works agency, and Arthur J. Altmeyer, of Wisconsin, as administrator of the new federal security agency. The jobs will pay $12,000 a year.

The man who will lose the most by the reorganization is Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes. He loses out as public works administrator and as chairman of the national resources committee.

Find Woman's Body On Railroad Tracks

ENFIELD, Ct., April 26 (AP)—The engineer of a southbound train saw a woman's mangled body lying beside the New Haven Railroad tracks today and police, notified by the Hartford dispatcher, discovered the victim to be Miss Louise E. Edgar, 36, of this town.

Dr. Frank F. Simonton, medical examiner, said Miss Edgar had committed suicide, apparently having stepped in front of a train.

Stars to Testify In Bond Probe

NEW YORK, April 26 (INS)—Some of Hollywood's screen celebrities moved nearer to a real life drama today as the federal grand jury again indicted William Buckner, Jr., broker and friend of Loretta Young, on charges of fraud in the manipulation of Philippine railway bonds.

As the indictment against Buckner and four others was handed up, federal authorities announced that screen stars would be brought here from Hollywood as witnesses.

Felipe Buenamino, a senator in the Philippine Legislature, was indicted today with Buckner. Others indicted were C. Wesley Turner, socialite; William Gillespie, broker and partner of Buckner, and Captain John Stuart Hyde, former British army officer.

College Head Sees Menace to Religion

With the potential influence of the Catholic Church on international relations as the dominant theme of the day, 2000 Catholic women gathered at Hotel Somerset for the the Third Diocesan Conference of Catholic Women today.

They heard Edward A. Sullivan, president of the Salem Teachers' College, declare that the United States should preoccupy itself with its own internal problems to the exclusion of foreign entanglements.

The session marked the closing day of the conference, which was to receive Cardinal O'Connell's benediction at St. Clement's church, Boylston street, later in the day. The women will attend a banquet at the Somerset tonight.

RAPS DICTATORS

Sullivan delivered a sweeping condemnation of the dictator governments in Europe. While their methods of attack on religion differ, their ultimate aims are fundamentally the same, he declared.

"Stalin is an open enemy of all religions," said the educator.

"Hitler would inject his doctrines of race and nationhood into the Christian religion and make it his agent for the achievement of his diabolic aims. Mussolini, likewise, is not religious in any sense, but is a political opportunist recognizing in religion a useful weapon for the attainment of his ends."

CATHOLICS BLAMED

The inherent weakness of both Communism and National Socialism, he added, is its omission from consideration of faith and love of the Creator.

Carrying on the same theme, Dr. Eric S. McKenzie, professor at St. John's Seminary, blamed Catholics for much of the lack of Christian spirit in today's international dealings.

"There are many Catholics in high office in the world today," he declared, "but there is no sign that any of them recognize an official obligation to follow the teachings of the Church."

He termed nationalism and racism in Italy and Germany "the most flagrant violation of Christian law in our day."

During the morning session the conference passed resolutions urging Catholic trade union members to take active part in their unions' affairs, condemning divorce as "a menace to civilization," urging peace moves throughout the world, scoring modern immoral literature for its effect on youth, and deploring extreme and immodest style tendencies.

In the resolution on fashions, the Catholic women pledged themselves to be "more conservative, modest, and sensible in our style of dress," after sharply criticising present tendencies toward immodesty in clothing.

HUSBAND, IN-LAWS KILL MOTHER OF 4

WHITE CLOUD, Mich., April 26 (AP)—Lieut. Lyle Morse of the Michigan state police announced today the husband, mother-in-law and a brother-in-law of 20-year-old Helen Cassidy had confessed she was killed in a plot to gain custody of her four small children.

Her body was found hanging in her farm home February 26. Investigators said she was choked to death before the body was suspended to simulate suicide.

Prosecutor J. Donald Murphy said he would request warrants today charging first degree murder against Mrs. Matilda Cassidy, 46, the mother-in-law; Charles Cassidy, 23, the husband, and Elton Cassidy, 26, a brother of Charles. Murphy said Elton admitted the actual slaying.

The prosecutor and Sheriff Robert Hart said the slaying was motivated by a family quarrel in which the young wife's housekeeping, religion and upbringing of the four small children were criticized.

Charles Cassidy started suit for divorce last fall, asking custody of the children. Helen Cassidy filed a cross bill and attempted to keep the children.

Prosecutor and sheriff said Matilda Cassidy denied knowledge of the crime or existence of any conspiracy, but that Elton Cassidy linked his mother with it.

Jobless Claims Show Decrease

Sharp increases in employment throughout the state last week were mirrored today in the report of the Unemployment Compensation Commission, listing a decrease in jobless claims of 4031.

Of 43 branch offices throughout the state, 37 announced decreases in unemployment. Claims filed during the week ending April 19 were 9612, as against 13,652 in the preceding week.

Fight on 2 Million Trust Plan Delayed

Illness of a lawyer today blocked opening of a probate court hearing on two bills in equity seeking to void 10 living trust funds created by Mrs. Caroline Adams of Palm Springs, Cal., and her late husband, Charles F. Adams, Boston textile multi-millionaire.

When Attorney Francis N. Balch of State street, one of counsel for the administrator and guardians of Mrs. Adams, announced that he felt ill, it was agreed that the hearing would be deferred until later in the week.

Two bills in equity were filed in the court more than a year ago, and at that time Judge Frederick J. Dillon issued temporary injunctions against the First National Bank and the Old Colony Trust Company, preventing them from disposing of checks, vouchers and documents under the $2,000,000 trust plan.

CALLED "MAD WOMAN"

When the bills were filed it was charged by Judge Edward A. Counihan, Jr., as administrator of the estate, that Adams, in the last years of his life, was kept prisoner behind a wall and was dressed by his wife in a child's smock.

At the same time, Attorney Balch characterized the 87-year-old woman as "a mad woman" and "a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde character."

Adams, the textile multi-millionaire, died in 1935 in Palm Springs, a southern California desert resort, at the age of 85. He had lived there from 1920 until his death.

The bills in equity filed are against the two banks, Harvard University, Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Attorney General Paul A. Dever and they seek to set aside the trusts and have turned over to the administrator and the guardians the properties placed in trust by the Adams couple.

MAKE MANY CHARGES

They charge that the textile man was mentally incompetent when he signed the trusts and was unduly influenced by his wife and the banks.

It is also charged that Mrs. Adams is now incompetent; that she believes she can communicate with the dead and that she has come to look upon various young men as the reincarnation of her dead sons.

"After 1920, when she had taken him to California to live for good," it is charged in the bills, "she treated him as mentally and physically a child.

"From 1927 on, she kept him confined most of the time behind a brick wall built by her for the purpose, and from the year 1930 on she dressed him in a child's smock frock—to his great distress."

CIGGIE MACHINE BAN VETOED

Mayor Tobin today vetoed the action of the City Council to outlaw tobacco and cigarette vending machines.

Terming the Council's vote to prohibit such devices "unwarranted exercise of the power and authority of the municipality," Mayor Tobin declared that "no facts have been set forth sufficient to indicate beyond question that these machines are either a nuisance or a menace to the public."

The Council had acted on suggestion that vending machines made cigarettes available to children.

The Council has no power to override the mayor's veto.

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD

Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat Everything from Soup to Nuts

The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, coarse or rich foods or when you are nervous, hurried or chew poorly—your stomach often tours out too much fluid. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain or sour stomach. You feel sour, sick and upset all over.

Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes those little black tablets called Bell-ans for indigestion to make the sourest stomach duties harmless, relieve distress in one time and put you back on your feet. Relief is so quick it is amazing and one 25c package proves it. Ask for Bell-ans for Indigestion.

The winners!

Today, with admiration and pleasure, we present 100 tickets for the Friars' Frolic and 35 personally autographed photographs of Tommy Dorsey to the quick thinking and smart contestants in last week's Record Contest.

The judges worked for days sorting and grading the hundreds of entries and it was after a deliberation they finally agreed on the list the winners below.

Tickets and photographs will be mailed out immediately. The tickets, incidentally, have passed out so that many fans will be sure to be at the record ball in Harden Friday night when Tommy uncorks his super show "The Hour of Charm," a galaxy of radio and screen stars and their bands whooping it up for a Swing vs Sweet contest.

WATCH FOR—

A new and unusual contest starting soon! Be sure to read my column in next Sunday's Smart Set Magazine of the Boston Sunday Advertiser for news of that contest.

The Proper Thing To Do

By MRS. BEECKMAN

Haven't you always wondered what is the proper thing for you to do in this circumstance: the hostess is chatting with a small group of friends in the living room, the telephone rings, either in the room in which they are talking or some place close by. The hostess answers the telephone.

Should the guests stop talking while the hostess carries on a telephone conversation, no matter how brief? If they do it gives the impression that they are listening to the conversation.

If they don't stop talking they may prevent the hostess from hearing what the caller says.

It seems to me that the best plan is for the guests to continue their conversation, in subdued tones, almost a whisper. This causes the hostess the least embarrassment.

HORSE RADISH RELISH

1 pkg. lemon flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
1 tablespoon vinegar
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon scraped onion
½ C. drained prepared horse radish
1 cup cream whipped

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add vinegar, salt and onion. Chill. When slightly thickened, fold in horse radish and cream. Turn into mold. Chill until firm. Serve with boiled ham or cold meat. Serves 10.

And here's a ragout, the most [illegible] stew of plain cookery that [illegible] to casserole service. Its [illegible] is found by the seasonings used. And we'll vouch for it's being something different."

BEEF RAGOUT

½ cup finely cut onion
1 small button garlic minced
¼ cup olive oil or fat
1½ lbs. coarsely ground beef
2 cups water
1-3 cup tomato ketchup
1 tablespoon flour
2 tablespoons chili powder
¼ cup water
1½ cups ripe olives, cut in large bewy wedges
French bread
1-3 cup milk
1½ cups finely cut American cheese

Saute onion and garlic in olive oil until onion is wilted. Add beef and salt and fry until the separated particles of meat are cooked. Add water and ketchup and bring to a boil. Blend flour with chili powder and mix with ¼ cup water until smooth, then stir into the hot mixture. Add ripe olive wedges cut from the pits of whole fruit. Cook until thick, about 8 or 10 minutes, stirring to prevent scorching.

Butter or oil an oblong casserole if available, and one which boasts a cover. Cover the bottom with thin slices of French bread. Add entire olive meat mixture and cover with additional slices of the same bread. Cover the baking dish or casserole and bake in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.) about 20 minutes.

Combine milk and cheese over hot water and stir until smooth. Remove casserole from oven and pour melted cheese over the crusty top. Serve immediately. These proportions will serve from 6 to 8 persons.

Note: One 8½ ounce can Welsh rabbit may be used to replace melted cheese for topping.

Smart Set Functions

By BETTY ALDEN

IN YEARS GONE BY the dignified ladies of Back Bay used to gather in their parlors overlooking Beacon street and discuss the topics of the day as they practised some form of artistic handicraft.

The wonders of the first Chicago World's Fair and the scandal of Little Egypt were discussed as embroidery needles plied in and out of tightly stretched samplers. The latest hit tune from Floradora was hummed in a roomful of smoke rising from various pieces of fancy burnt woodwork . . . Painting chinaware and crocheting have each had their turn and our present hurry-up age hasn't eliminated the urge to create something pleasing and artistic with the hands.

One group of prominent Back Bay women have seriously taken up the making of pottery and have their own little kiln at the Pottery Workshop. Mrs. Henry Cleveland specializes in making animal models of her own and her friends' pets . . . At the exhibit of the work of these amateur potters, being held at a Berkeley street gallery, she displayed little glazed models of her bunnies, several pet dogs and Flag, the little deer leading character in "The Yearling" . . .

AH, MY PRETTY CABBAGE—Mrs. Archibald G. Ogden of Cambridge looks most attractive as she impersonates a cabbage in the Junior League's play Pumpkin Pie, which the players are taking on tour this week. Their stops include eleven hospitals in Greater Boston, where they are presenting the play for entertainment of convalescents and shut-ins.

Something for Mary

HER DAUGHTER, Mrs. G. J. Guthrie Nicholson of New York (the former Mary Cleveland), will have an artistic new lamp as soon as the exhibit is over . . . for one of Mrs. Cleveland's entries is a lamp pedestal in the shape of a dancing senorita . . . She told friends who admired it that it was made especially for Mary . . . and she was particularly pleased with comments about her . . . which, she explained, required a lot of perseverance and several firings to produce its novel effect . . .

Clara Dupee's model of a Percheron horse came in for a lot of admiration, and other entries include Helen Jackson's miniature dishes, some pottery and native articles made by Mrs. Wayland Manning and Mrs. Robert B. Stone's collection of turtles of all sizes and colors.

Mrs. Robert Stevenson, one of the most active of the potters, took time out from the exhibit to see the fashions displayed at luncheon time at the Ritz-Carlton . . . Joining her in a foursome were her two nieces, Mrs. Samuel L. Gwin, Jr., and Mrs. Malcolm Bradlee, who observed with great interest the array of summer togs paraded through the dining room . . .

Tailored Suits Popular

MRS. QUINCY SHAW McKEAN wore her usual cluster of fresh carnations on a chic navy ensemble as she lunched at the Ritz with two escorts, and Mrs. Oliver Hall was especially interested in the gowns modelled by her niece, Dorothy Wright of New York, who is visiting the Irving Wrights of Chestnut Hill . . . Dorothy's sister, Elizabeth, was also taking in the show at a table with Mrs. Hall: Mrs. Francis Hastings and the latter's daughter, Mary.

Tailored suits were the favorite costume of many of our best dressed social leaders . . . Wearing them with chic were Mrs. Freeman Hinckley, Mrs. John Gardner Flint, Mrs. Sumner Pingree and Mrs. James Phelan . . . Mrs. Arthur Beale lunched with Mrs. Royden Loring at one of the pleasant tables overlooking the Public Garden, and others in the gathering were Mrs. Arthur LaCroix, Mrs. Malcolm Bradley French, Mrs. William Coburn and Mrs. Francis Hart with her daughter, Mrs. Vincent Palmer . . .

Memorial Day Horse Show

Such ardent horse lovers as Mr. and Mrs. Robert Almy, Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Lombard, the James Jacksons and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bramwell Shaw have been busy for weeks making elaborate plans for the annual Memorial Day Horseshow at the Dedham Country and Polo Club.

This show, which for one day at least, will take the attention of the social world away from weddings, debutantes and charity bazaars, will begin early in the morning, in order to run off in one day all the classes which in previous years have provided a two-day program for horse fans.

Mrs. Richard Saltonstall and Major Philip Sherwood are in charge of the large luncheon for exhibitors, and other Dedham "regulars" working on plans for the show include Mr. George T. Rice, chairman; Mrs. Rice, Mrs. David Maynard, George L. Wrenn 3d, and Mrs. H. E. Sawyer. Clara Jackson is helping Mrs. Laurence Lombard with publicity, and Mrs. Nelson Lee and Mrs. R. Cushman Hamlin are working on the prize committee with Mrs. James Jackson.

Social Notes

The Charm and Romance of Early New England Homes, always an appealing subject to Bostonians, will be discussed by Mrs. Emily Henry Bush at the annual meeting of the Women's Civic Federation on May 8th at the home of Mrs. Philip S. Sears of Brookline.

Mrs. Arthur F. Grannis is chairman of the afternoon's program, and Mrs. Moses Williams, chairman of the Federation, will preside at the business meeting.

'First Lady' To Feature Junior Week

Highlight of Emmanuel's junior week being held at the college times tomorrow evening with the presentation of the dramatic club's major production, "The First Lady" in the auditorium of the Boys' Latin School on Louis Pasteur avenue.

Among those taking part are Gertrude Duffy, Mary Elcock, Jeanne Busby, Mary McGinn, Gertrude Cronin, Audrey Swenterman and Mary Donovan.

The Boston College Dramatic Society portraying the male roles include William Goulding, Thomas Duffy, Frank Donovan, John Masterson, Bernard Finnan and Richard Powers.

Head usher for the event is Margaret McDevitt, whose aides include Katherine Fleming, Rita Sherry, Bette Welch, Frances Doherty, Harriet Cunningham, Nancy Fox, Polly Brunell, Virginia Hall, Marie Judge, Eileen McSweeney, Jean Larkin, Marie Hines and Mary Sullivan.

The week's varied rounds of luncheon, dinner and class day festivities will be climaxed with a dance Friday evening out in Charles River Country Club.

Belmont Girl Becomes Bride

White embroidered batiste fashioned the wedding gown of Elizabeth McCarthy of Belmont as she became the bride of James J. Reagan, Jr., of Cambridge, at nine o'clock yesterday morning in Our Lady of Mercy Church in Belmont.

Her tulle veil fell from a cap of the same material and a spray of gardenias completed her costume. Her matron of honor, Mrs. John W. Flatley of Arlington, Va., wore a similar gown of peach batiste trimmed with delphinium. Gowned alike in hyacinth batiste with matching plaques and carrying clusters of talisman roses were the three bridesmaids, Ethel Flood of Belmont, Ana Fitzpatrick of Salem and Mary Campion of Woodlawn, N. Y.

Following a small reception at the Hotel Commander in Cambridge, the couple left on a wedding trip south.

The bride, the daughter of Mrs. Charles McCarthy of Belmont, was graduated from Rosary Academy and Emmanuel College. Mr. Reagan received his degree from Boston College and Boston College Law School.

LECTURES MAY 18

"In the Footsteps of Francis Thompson", an illustrated lecture, will be presented by Rev. Terence Connolly, S. J., on May 18 at the Hotel Somerset. The Xavier Guild of Catholic Action is sponsoring the affair.

MRS. MORTIMER PRESCOTT, of Cabot road, Newton, is a member of the committee in charge of the dinner to be given Saturday evening at the Hotel Continental in Cambridge by the Newton Circle of the Florence Crittenton League.

St. Elizabeth's Guild Gives Style Parade

A parade of fashion imported for the occasion from New York and a valuable collection of prizes was the lure which drew large Guild of St. Elizabeth members and friends to the Statler yesterday for their annual spring benefit.

Guild President Mrs. John C. O'Neill was a one-man reception committee. A silver fox scarf added the final note of luxury to her smart blue moiré ensemble. Both Mrs. Joseph C. Kiley and Mrs. Francis T. Jantzen, prime movers in staging the benefit, were pleased as punch at the success of their smart tea dance.

Another prominent guild member, Mrs. M. F. Flynn of Brookline attended with her daughters, Virginia and Mrs. Joseph Barry.

Awards to the lucky ones by the undertaking was a whole corps of young folk. Helen Clark, in a chic costume of navy and white, Frances Shea, who accented her blonde coloring with a soft suit of pine green tweed, and Helen Green, whose pretty multi-colored print was topped by a powder blue taffeta reefer.

Also glimpsed: Mrs. Stephen Higgins, Mrs. William Fitzgerald, Mrs. Frank Fitzpatrick and Mrs. Thomas Sullivan.

Other young-setters lending their support to the worthwhile cause were Marion McCarthy, who topped her pastel green gown with a smart hat of japonica tones. Mrs. Anne Ryan and Marie O'Connell and Jean Kiley, whose dark costume was effectively trimmed with polka dots.

MILLIONS OF AMERICANS are on relief. Millions have no employment. Millions of others work "part time" or for reduced wages.

The way to lift these deserving Americans out of their humiliating position is to BUY AMERICAN.

Every closed factory in the country would reopen and put MILLIONS to work if every man and woman in the country would make a pledge with his patriotic instincts to BUY AMERICAN.

When you BUY AMERICAN you put money in YOUR OWN POCKET. When the general level of household spending rises, each worker, each citizen automatically rises with it.

HARVARD MEASURES students' heads and reports that the skull of Nathan Belfer, a brilliant sophomore, extends 185 millimetres from ear to ear and is therefore one of the biggest ever viewed by anthropologists.

Readers, learning this and remembering the young man's high scholastic rating, quite logically ask

"Is a large head or brain an indication of intelligence?"

John L. Sullivan

The answer is NO, and scientific studies prove it. Ivan Turgeniev, Russian poet and naturalist, possessed a brain weighing 70.9 ounces, by far the heaviest ever recorded. Yet Dante, Italian author of "The Inferno" and generally considered one of the world's five most gifted men, did his thinking with "gray matter" of less than 51 ounces.

Baron Cuvier, distinguished French anatomist, had a brain weight of 64½ ounces. The brain of Lord Byron, British poet, was an ounce less. Daniel Webster, American statesman, and the great Napoleon had the same skull circumference, 23 inches, and the same brain weight, 53 ounces.

The circumference of the skull of John L. Sullivan and the weight of his brain were identical with those of Napoleon and Webster.

After death, Abraham Lincoln's brain was examined and reported to be rather "below average."

A similar finding was made in the case of Walt Whitman, whose intelligence won him literary immortality.

"RED HAIR means riches," says Perc Westmore, Hollywood motion picture director, disclosing the interesting information that the flame-colored wig Bette Davis wears in "The Knight and the Lady" cost $1920.

Bette Davis

This would have delighted Queen Elizabeth of England, history's outstanding redhead, who surrounded herself with the handsomest men of the court until she was some seventy-odd years of age, and then carried on with artificial tresses.

It would also have pleased Elizabeth's like-complexioned cousin, Mary of Scots, who lost her head on the block, but not before she had experienced joy and sorrow in four romances.

Further proof that the possession of red hair means not only riches but FAME is contained in any book that mentions such women as Cleopatra, Nero's wife Popaea, Madame de Maintenon, Ninon de L'Enclos, Sarah Bernhardt and Mrs. Leslie Carter.

All were fiery brick-tops.

AN ELECTRICAL ARCHITECT inhabits the human body. It molds and fashions the individual after a specific predetermined pattern and remains within the individual throughout life, from the pre-embryonic stages until death.

Professor Burr

That is what the eminent Professor H. S. Burr tells the National Academy of Sciences in Washington.

According to this authority's belief, the electrical architect is the "real I" of a human being; all else in the body undergoes constant change, but this mysterious force remains constant, building new cells and organizing them after the same pattern of the original cells, and thus, in a literal sense, recreating the body in accordance with its own image.

Is it not possible that Professor Burr is talking about something that men from the time of Plato have known and recognized?

He gives it the stream-lined Twentieth Century name of "Electrical Architect."

Others have been content to call it "soul."

Human Side of News -:- by EDWIN C. HILL

MARIE BELLOC LOWNDES, England's prolific writer of absorbing mystery tales, publishes "Lizzie Borden: a Study in Conjecture," under the masthead of Longmans, Green and Company. The book is a fascinating fictionized version of the famous tragedy of Fall River.

The Borden murder mystery of August 4, 1892, remains America's classic murder case. Lizzie Borden, devout 31 year-old church worker, straight-laced prude, filled with religious fervor, was acquitted by a Fall River jury of having killed her father and stepmother with an axe.

THE CASE against Lizzie Borden was based mainly on the elimination of all other probabilities and possibilities. Indisputably, the evidence showed there was no other person in the house at the time, other than the victims.

The old banker had had a passion for locks and double locks on all the doors of his house. Each of the many doors had heavy locks, both inside and out, strangely enough. Never was any door ever left unlocked.

Lizzie Borden's defense was that she was in the barn at the time; but also in the barn was an axe head with a broken helve, and in the contention of the state, this was the instrument of the killings. There was no use of fingerprints in those days. And there was no crimson stain on the person or any garment of Lizzie Borden. No expert who studied the case, then or later, has doubted that Lizzie Borden was the slayer.

THE BORDEN HOME
Scene of "Perfect Crime"

But, again, it was the perfect crime and acquittal was inevitable.

IT WAS an Ibsen story, this young woman's hatred of the man and woman who had filched her youth and thwarted her life, and Mrs. Lowndes does what Ibsen, Hauptmann and Strindberg do when they cast Greek drama in modern guise. She relies upon antecedent and offstage events in finding a solution for her mystery.

Her conjecture is a romance plot, with Mrs. Borden detecting Lizzie in a clandestine meeting with her lover and threatening to tell her father. Without passing any of the depreciated small coin of modern psychoanalysis, she evolves a psychological pattern which makes her fiction seem quite as plausible as her factual setting for her story.

This story by the charming little apple-cheeked Victorian lady - now visiting New York, by the way - is not only a cracking good mystery tale, but it seems to this reader somewhat of a literary tour de force in piecing out police annals from some deeper delving in the human heart.

Girl About Town -:- by MARJORIE McBRIDE

IF YOU EVER BROWSE through Court street, you'll pause to watch the elderly men carving pipe bowls in the window of David P. Ehrlich's Pipe Store.

It's the largest shop of its kind in the country, has the greatest collection of meerschaums in the world, and is the only store in America where pipes are still carved by hand.

Meerschaums still rule as favorites among connoisseur pipe smokers. The meerschaum is imported from Turkey. The amber used in the stems comes from Russia and the Balkan states.

Most carving orders are for a skull on the bowl. Some men order likenesses of their wives, their dogs or friends. Many want their own likenesses. Former Governor Curley has two with his portrait on them.

J. H. Williamson, the manager, says that pipe smoking among women is coming into favor, following a fashion set by London's smart set a year or so ago. The pipes for ladies are tiny, and there is a special very mild tobacco to be smoked in them.

WHEN IT COMES to drinking, seniors at Harvard can't hold a candle to their brothers who graduated last year. And it's all to the good as far as veteran bartenders in Harvard Square are concerned.

"Fine fellows all of them," is their comment, "but we used to have to hold them down. Not like that this year. The seniors are getting more sense and dignity."

Political Parade -:- by GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN

WASHINGTON, April 26. It is assumed by nearly everyone that on the 28th the Peck's Bad Boy of Europe will smear soft soap on the front steps, and give Mr. Roosevelt a nasty slip up. Suppose he shouldn't!

Our President in his open letter to Rome and Berlin has let himself in for no small embarrassment, in the event Mr. Hitler has the cunning to take him up.

Among the things Mr. Roosevelt said, respecting his proposed international conference, was this, that the United States would be prepared to take part in discussions looking towards opening up avenues of international trade "to the end that every nation of the earth may be enabled to buy and sell on equal terms in the world market as well as to possess assurance of obtaining the materials and products of peaceful economic life."

Suppose Hitler should imagine that to be an invitation to come in and help himself to the domestic American market?

THAT PROMISE that every nation may be enabled to buy and sell on equal terms in the world markets, Leika like too large a dish of free trade.

CHANCELLOR HITLER
What Will He Propose?

Does this mean that Japan could sell her cheap cotton goods on equal terms in the American market? The very thought is enough to make the hard-pressed American textile manufacturer shudder.

In another place in his letter the President asks the dictators if they are willing to give assurances that their armed forces would not "attack or invade the territory or possessions" of a list of countries.

This opens up not merely the question of the "possessions" of these various countries, but their colonies.

And it also opens up the whole question of the mandates under the treaty of Versailles.

If Mr. Hitler accepted the invitation of the President he would be able to put the colonial question right up top on the agenda.

AS FOR AMERICAN participation in an international conference which would undertake to rectify the geographical mistakes left over from the World War, it may be doubted that the United States would "gladly" take part, as the President has so optimistically said. Certainly sentiment in Congress is against it.

But if Congress should authorize such participation, in its present mood it would probably undertake to make it clear that the question of the $11,000,000,000 post-war debts owed the taxpayers of America by the defaulting nations of Europe must be considered at that conference.

And how would they like that?

NEW YORK, April 26.—Midnight nocturne: "If Margaret Webster cabled her mother, Dame Mae Webster, that she had dyed her hair red for the Magdalene role in 'Family Portrait,'" a producer informs at Mory's. "Her mother cabled back: 'Hurrah, Hurrah. At last I've a beautiful daughter'" . . . Jimmy Foxx startled Joe Cook (a waiter in preparing a sandwich) when he requested a rabbit. The waiter flinch his lip in imitation of the rabbit's mouth . . . "When he was replaced by Philip Merivale, in Davenport, Iowa, Lewis broke the news to the theater-manager who asked: 'Who is Merivale? Lewis said, 'He's a famous actor, like Maurice Evans.' And the manager asked, 'Who is Evans?' 'What famous actor do the Davenport people know?' asked the exasperated Lewis. 'We know,' he was told, 'Fibber McGee'" . . . "My play will be remembered long after the other ones for which you voted have been forgotten" Critics Dick Watts and John Anderson become Saroyanish. LISTEN, WORLD! -:- -:- By Elsie Robinson

ALWAYS THERE is a wish going on inside you. No matter who you are, or what you are doing, always there is a wish going on inside you—turning, twisting, reaching out blindly toward something greater, something more free and proud and powerful than your present life.

It is not a definite wish. You cannot put it into words. You FEEL rather than THINK it, and sometimes that feeling is deeply overlaid with the rush of your outside life. But always the wish goes on inside you, night and day—like a wild song, crying, crying—like a wild wind, flying, flying.

So your life comes to nothing, in spite of your continual wishing for greater things. Outwardly you are busy. You work furiously at many jobs. You take chances, spare no effort to make good; yet your life comes to nothing.

YOUR LIFE COMES TO NOTHING BECAUSE 75 PER CENT OF ITS ENERGY AND INITIATIVE IS WASTED.

THAT WISH which is always going on inside you is the most important part of your life. All your outward assets and activities which seem so important are trivial in comparison with that inner urgency.

That impulse, which spends itself fruitlessly in so many directions—in day dreams, in self-pity, in a tumult of imaginary rebellions and triumphs—is actually the mainspring of your life. It is your most valuable asset, your fiercest force. With it you could accomplish miracles. IF YOU WOULD USE IT AS A FORCE.

But you don't!

Chances are, you never even thought of it as a force. All your life a wish has been going on inside you, but you have thought it "just one of those things." You have never consciously never tried to control or direct it, never tried to shape it into any definite purpose or power.

IT CAN BE DONE

That inner urgency can be concentrated, controlled, trained directed just as your muscles can be controlled.

By exactly the same use of will power you can train yourself how to reach, how to clutch, with your mind. You can train your wishes just as you can train your hands.

EVERY HUMAN BEING who has ever amounted to anything has had to do it. No man or woman ever achieved any sort of success by OUTWARD EFFORTS, OUTWARD CONTACTS. One achieves success by harnessing that [illegible] going on inside him, BY PUTTING THAT WISH TO WORK.

You may never [illegible] in the Lodge, write a book or boss a [illegible] BUT IF YOU WILL USE THE SECRET WISH FORCE WHICH YOU ARE NOW WASTING, YOU CAN MAKE A FULL ADVENTURE OF YOUR LIFE. YOU CAN FIND AND GIVE PLEASURE, POWER AND PEACE.

And the [illegible] Wish for SOMETHING—instead of JUST WISHING.

GILBERT AND SULLIVAN'S 'PATIENCE' WINS LOUD BRAVOS

Satire on Oscar Wilde Has Season's Premiere

By PEGGY DOYLE

"Patience," the Gilbert and Sullivan satire on that deathless poseur, Oscar Wilde, last night was given its initial performance this season by the D'Oyly Carte Opera Company at the Colonial Theater and the verdict as usual was unanimously in the affirmative.

Broadway is currently hailing Robert Morley's flippant portrayal of "Oscar Wilde" and Boston following its New York run, recently attended the two weeks' engagement of Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest."

Wilde conscious or otherwise last night's playgoers greeted the stinging slapstick in "Patience" with rip-roaring appreciation. And their "performance" was more than matched by the audience's unrestrained delight that welcomed every anticipated line uttered by one of the actors.

There is no missing the talent in "Patience" which persistently slaps on the wrist the confederates Oscar who was legend's ever grown problem child of some decades back.

Healthy but rude was the comedy opposition to Wilde as provided by the 35th Dragoon Guards stalwart and handsome in their red and black goal tended uniforms.

EGOS CREATE MIRTH

The company's comic banquet is the Colonel Calverley of the Dragoons. A buck whose genuine love begs proudly confession if not commendation or for a thousand beautiful lines.

Until the arrival of Martyn Green's pompous buffoonery. A foolish pair the troubadour love poems in their collective 35th Dragoon Guards uniforms have had the field the stage, room and the entire cast. They are completely disconcerted by the arrival of this true jaw wrecker.

It is the Dragoons who sing so proudly.

"If you want a receipt for that popular mystery known to the world as a Heavy Dragoon, take all the remarkable people in history, rattle them off to a popular tune! Flick of Lord Nelson on board of the Victory, genius of Bismarck devising a plan. The humor of Fielding (which sounds contradictory), coolness of Paget about to trepan. The science of Julien, the eminent musico; wit of Macaulay, who wrote of Queen Anne," etcetera.

PERFECT IN PRECISION

They are handsome, perfect their precision through, and completely disconcerted by the storm of applause their military and vocal entrance caused.

Martyn Green as Reginald Bunthorne, is too pronounced and all together right. His performance has the entire production and just a swing that is just around the corner.

Lorne Harris' Archibald Grosvenor, the idyllic poet, is superbly and well conceived. Evelyn Gardiner who plays the Lady Jane, is too good to be true curvaceous, cuddlesome, funny and salty withal.

There is wit in Viola Wilson's Patience dairy maid, and there were outstanding performances by other members of the large cast. Space forbids praising each and almost individual performance. Even too, when performances are so uniformly good as were given a long and loud praise be suspended upon to cover the situation adequately.

"The Mikado" will be given this afternoon and evening.

Hollywood Paragraphs

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

Sacha Guitry's "The Lesson" is being whipped into shape by Gene Tracy and Garson Kanin for Walter Wanger. Plans to get them there are already delay. Walter will borrow David Niven from Sam Goldwyn for the lead and it's a break for Davy who said "Dawn Patrol" was just a big picture.

Of course "Wuthering Heights" didn't do him any harm for he proved that he could play heavy drama as well as light comedy with which he has been identified. Davy came in on the crest of the wave for he's been a long time in coming. Now looking at the door of stardom.

Gene Tierney, and it is said with a "G," was her first date with her new beau Henry Wilcox. He surprised her and spent her entire 21st birthday in Central Park, making it last from 1 p.m. to 1 a.m. But she refused to say whether or not her birthday had anything to do with the fact that Henry decided to stay that way.

Never knew until I saw Merle Tierney in not only a stage comedy but that she was a pretty blonde and made her debut in one. By the way, Merle is a Van Dyke descendant, the extremely rural Pasadena branch.

Why Girls Leave Home

Camilla

by Anne Stretton, who wrote 'PROPOSAL'

Who's Who and What's Happened:

CAMILLA and MARK might have come into a fine inheritance if their father, a famous banker, had not neglected to marry their mother. When he died he left no provision for his children but a life interest in the house to

GLADYS, who had no maternal instincts at all for Camilla and Mark. And he willed the house to SIMON, a cousin. Simon managed the estate efficiently and was like a brother to Camilla and Mark. They had no idea he was in love until the day he proposed to Camilla.

EVELYN, to Dote. Instantly they disliked her and knew that the feeling was mutual. Although Evelyn disapproved, on Mark's 18th birthday Simon gave Dote to him. After they were married Mark went back to school and Camilla met

STEPHEN FULLER, who was staying with friends near Dote. They took walks together, meeting just before her home. To her horror, Camilla discovered her mother was drinking. Soon after this Stephen called for her before Camilla came home unexpectedly. Simon arrived. Camilla thought she was engaged. Mark had written him about Stephen, but the letter had been returned.

Now Continue:

CHAPTER 21

"SIMON—" Camilla [illegible] Yes," Simon asked at her. "Stephen is coming over this evening . . . Would you . . . see him, then, or . . . ?"

"Certainly I will see him. He's very nice. But he isn't a bit like you.

Camilla sat on the fender pretending to read the Radio Times and listening to Stephen's arrival. Simon smiled in a way which always startled Camilla, the haze shot from his eyes ahead of them as he . . . The two . . . ceased away and where all . . . and stood or a table.

Simon had not . . . seen Stephen again to Stephen. If . . . had been for the two . . . on the tray of drinks Camilla would not have been certain whether he realized that Stephen . . . be expected at any moment.

During tea, Simon had explained to her briefly enough for her mother was to leave . . . the next day and would not . . . for . . .

"I will make arrangements . . . you to see her once or twice a year," he had said.

There had been . . . Camilla felt the vast pity she always felt when she thought of her mother.

STEPHEN ARRIVES

"No, please, Simon," she had replied and Simon, watching the . . . in her hand had answered very . . .

Now as she turned over the pages of the Radio, Camilla . . . I expect Stephen will be early and when he finds me here . . .

"I expect Stephen will be surprised when he finds you here," said Camilla nervously.

Stephen . . . frowned [illegible] "Why, Camilla?"

Camilla looked up and took a look at her cousin. Sometimes . . . a little flattered. That wasn't a good reason, one thought, and treated him rather hard when . . . beating. Was all her happiness going to be spoilt?

"Simon wants to talk to you," she answered. Stephen stamping a little . . . and the room to open the door for her and, looking up at him as she passed, she saw that he was an angel.

When Camilla reached the landing Daisy was dragging an empty leather trunk . . . Gladys's room. The initials "D. D." were stamped on it. [illegible] She looked with curiosity at Camilla.

"You come to your room, Miss," she said. "You'll be far perished there. I'll run along and . . . you a fire, for once."

"Oh, thank you, Daisy." A fire in one's room was an unaccustomed luxury.

MOTHER'S CLOTHES

"You won't . . . in your mother's room. I'll pay," Daisy . . . again . . . at Camilla. "Not I don't blame you, neither. It's a bear garden now. Miss Evelyn . . . from those cupboards and chester drawers as all, round the floor . . . each a'l of rubbish, I never seen.

"Perhaps they was fast . . . at once, but now," and . . . of . . . wipe the moth in . . . There's a suit of a sprigged frock. "Surely you won't take that, Miss," I said when I see'er with it in . . . er and 'It's all to pieces.' Oh, yes I shall, Daisy," she . . . I.

"Why, she . . . I'yerd it . . . of you believe what I . . . I looked like in that . . . We was surprised when we 'eerd your mother was leavin', Miss. But no more than what she was 'erself, I don't suppose. It'll seem funny, when she's gone. But I wouldn't say the place won't be . . . cheerfuller . . .

Daisy left the room . . . and coal. Camilla sat down on the bed. For a moment she didn't think of Simon and Stephen, she thought, instead, of her mother. And then, in a sort of panic, she recalled her thoughts.

She wouldn't think of her . . . tomorrow her mother would be gone, and she need never see her again. Simon had said . . . that . . . she had . . . Stephen . . . waiting . . . Camilla . . . and . . . Camilla . . . and . . . Camilla . . . and ELSIE ROBINSON writes the woman's viewpoint, discusses every-day affairs and problems, regularly in the Boston American.

Austen Lake:

Simmons Raises Old Bean Ball Bogey

TO ANYONE WHO REMEMBERS THE KILLING of Ray Chapman, the Cleveland shortstop, and divers skull fracturings from time to time, it seems strange that the pernicious beanball is still being thrown in the major leagues. Al Simmons, the Bees outfielder, is the latest victim, and Al Mungo of Brooklyn fired it—though whether by malicious intent of by faulty control is between himself, his parson and any other confidant. Still, make no mistake, intentional "dusters" are still thrown in the major leagues and only lately I overheard a ball player accuse Wes Ferrell, the dour Yankee pitcher, "Why you're so mean that if you had two strikes and nothin' on your Grandmother you'd throw a bean ball at her head."

AUSTEN LAKE

"No I wouldn't," replied Wes seriously, "but I might drive her back a little."

In recent years the National League has several times warned pitchers against the pernicious practice of throwing at the batters. The last man to be admonished was Dizzy Dean two years ago.

It still goes on.

Umpires Refuse Responsibility

UP TO THE AFTERNOON THAT CHAPMAN lost his life, the batters assumed full responsibility for ducking, flopping in the dust or keeping one foot in the water bucket. It was the accepted custom, condoned if not sanctioned for the pitchers to heave at the batter's heads for purposes of intimidation, and occasional skull bustings were acknowledged as routine risks of the game—deplorable, of course, but an inherent hazard of sport.

Up to that time (1920) the beanball was regarded by both sides as an impersonal practice though sometimes personal malice entered into the equations between pitcher and batter, in which the latter accepted the risk and employed whatever measure of reprisal he could, as by bunting along the first base line and luring the pitcher within spike wounding distance. That is still done too.

So, when Chapman was killed it was viewed as a regrettable calamity tending to bring disrepute on the pure, sporting qualities of the game. So a set of anti-bean ball laws were invoked with a scale of penalties for first, second and third offenses.

The punishments were made clear. But then, too, the punishments for first and second degree murder are also clear, though many a jury hesitates to condemn a lady defendant who pleads that while they were struggling for the gun a shot rang out and all went blank.

So it was put up to the umpires to decide whether the pitcher was trying to locate the plate and couldn't, or was attempting to avoid it for purposes of intimidation. It was put up to them to determine, in all meanings whether the pitcher's effort was accidental or heinous.

Heinous or Honest Intent?

THERE WAS OBVIOUSLY A DELICATE decision and the umpires were [illegible] the rule of reasonable doubt, the favorite legalistic dodge in which they pled that the human eye is incapable of [illegible] the human mind. They refused to accept research [illegible] and always read the pitcher's intent as honest, leaving the [illegible] of the League no recourse but to interpret it the same way.

RED SOX-NATS GAME OFF; GROVE HURLS TOMORROW

By WALTER KILEY

The long awaited home debut of Robert Moose Grove scheduled for this afternoon will be moved back until tomorrow when he receives the dubious honor of again facing the New York Yankees.

The ancient left hander was to have faced the Senators this afternoon but early morning rains left a very muddy field which resulted in today's game being postponed for a doubleheader, which will be played the next time the Nats drop in around these parts.

Probably Grove would have rather faced the Harris outfit as there seems to be no beating these Yanks, but the the Old Man was never one to pick spots and will be out there trying to beat an unbeatable club.

TED WILLIAMS JIMMY FOXX

Jimmy Foxx, Red Sox king pin, takes time off to instruct Ted Williams just how it should be done. Jimmy saved the day for the Sox with his home run in the 11th, which the locals won, 6 to 5.

Max took a shot at the Yanks [illegible] the Yanks opened last Tuesday and the entire baseball world [illegible] to see if the Grand old Master could come [illegible].

RED SOX NEED SPARK

And he really did. Although he [illegible] the Yanks [illegible] and was going stronger at the finish than in the early innings.

If anyone can whip those Yanks [illegible] it may be just the spark the Hose need to get moving for [illegible].

Fenway Park fans will relish [illegible] a well pitched ball game [illegible] all the more [illegible] 14 ninesmen to finish off [illegible] games for the 1939 season.

If [illegible] is in his minutes [illegible] Fenway fans might enjoy [illegible] of arriving home in time for [illegible] with the wife and kiddies. These three hour contests are becoming trying on matinee [illegible].

OSTY PITCHED WELL

However, in the interest of true [illegible] it must be said that Fred Ostermueller who started against the Nats, produced a most respectable six inning performance.

He was found for only five hits during his term of stewardship and two runs, only one of which was earned. He walked three men, two of them on intentional passes.

"Fritz" gave way to Woodrow Rich, who opened the seventh not because he was found wanting, but through the insertion of Fabian Gaffke as pinch hitter in the sixth when runners were on second and MEASURES OFF. Former lightweight champ, Lou Ambers, measuring off Honey Mellody with long left to chin which just misses its mark at start of fatal fourth round in their bout at Garden last night.

GOES UNDER COVER. No missing here as the Herkimer Kid blasts away at the New England champion almost at will. Honey just couldn't stand up under the heavy barrage of blows.

CALLS IT A DAY. The end was as dramatic as it was sensational but it didn't mean a thing to the Charlestown pride as he hears the final count from Referee Johnny Martin after 1 minute and 15 seconds.

Lou Ambers Knocks Out Mellody in 4th Round

By JACK CONWAY

Lou Ambers completely overwhelmed Honey Mellody, New England lightweight champion, before a crowd of 7500 persons at the Garden and knocked him out after one minute 15 seconds of fighting in the fourth round.

Ambers rocked the pride of Charlestown to his socks at 1:15 of the fourth round with a left hook to the jaw. As Mellody's knees buckled Lou cracked a right to the jaw and then with fourteen seconds remaining in the round another left hook to the jaw and then the finishing right hand wallop which sent the Charlestown boy to the canvas.

Mellody was in poor condition and as Referee Johnny Martin reached the count of seven Johnny Lakey tossed a towel into the ring, as a token of defeat.

Ambers proved the cross fighter and the ultimate result was settled by the first flurry of blows.

Mellody was courageous and willing but he was pitted against a master boy who tossed his punches home.

Honey got a good hand as he entered the ring but he was greeted with two right hand punches to the jaw.

Ambers led the opening session almost at will. Mellody was a wide target but did some roasting as he studied Ambers' style.

After Honey found his range, he blew in the second session. Ambers talked with a series of short quick blows to the head and body. In the clinches Ambers would step back quickly and drive right hand uppercuts to the jaw.

There was a crowd of 7,500 present and the gate was $8,000.

K. O. Baxter of Jamaica, was the decision over Eddie Shea of Portland in the semi-final.

Tackie Reed of Lawrence and Fred Cohen of Cambridge went six rounds to a draw. Reed scored a knockdown in the second and third sessions.

George Salamone of East Boston received the decision over Pedro Martinez of Boston in a six-round go.

Jack Dolan of Lowell received Irish Johnny Shelton in two rounds.

Abe Denver of the West End potted Martin Ross of E. Boston six pounds and gave him an awful beating in the third and last round. Denver had Ross out on the canvas almost at will.

Montague Makes Coast Debut

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., April 26 (INS)—John Montague, famed mystery man of golf, warmed up today with a few practice shots while waiting to tee off tomorrow in a pre-tournament event preceding the California open golf championship.

Montague has signified to officials that he intends to play and as this will be his first appearance in California competition his appearance will add much to what promises to be a colorful and spectacular event.

George Von Elm, noted fairways warrior, loomed as pre-tournament favorite.

Foxx Pulls Homerun Trick in 11th Looks Like a Great Year for Jimmy

Jimmy Foxx; Joe Cronin; and Lefty Grove: three of a kind—all winners! Sporting the highest batting average for both majors last year, Boston's famous Double X was also named his league's most valuable player. Joe Cronin was acclaimed America's champion shortstop. And Grove's .778 winning pitching percentage topped both leagues. All three in this championship trio like their Wheaties! How about you?

B's Jump to Philly; Brooklyn Tilt Off

BROOKLYN, N. Y., April 26—All hopes of taking the "rubber" game here this afternoon were washed out for the Bees, and the Stengelmen pulled up stakes and started for Philadelphia where they open a two-game series with the Phillies tomorrow.

The Bees, holding two decisions over the pesky Phillis to date, will try to make it three with Deacon Danny MacFayden doing the hurling.

Casey Stengel had decided on Danny for today hoping to make up for yesterday's loss, but the postponement gives the Somerville ace an extra day of rest.

The Bees were unfortunate that they had to use a well played ball game 3 to 2 to the Dodgers on Tuesday.

Johnny Lanning, Dick Errickson and Lefty Joe Sullivan combined to hold the "Daffiness Boys" to five hits. But seven passes proved their downfall, two of the walks being converted into runs.

Pat McCarthy Is Honored by Vets

Pompoon to Run At Suffolk Downs

PAT McCARTHY, former heavyweight boxer and now a member of the Metropolitan police department, will be installed as Commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars at exercises at the Municipal Building, Vine street, Roxbury, on Friday night . . . McCarthy fought Jack Sharkey, Tom Gibbons, Johnny Wilson and other prominent boxers.

Laddie Lee, another former ring star, is on the Medford police department . . . Joe Monte is a member of the Brockton police force . . . George (Kid) Lee is operating a tavern in Worcester . . . Billy Murphy has a tavern in Lowell . . . The boxers turn to police departments or taverns.

The Red Sox pitching staff cannot be as bad as it has appeared so far this season . . . The poor weather ball clubs have experienced since coming North has not helped the pitching departments . . . Jack Kenney dropped in to say hello while in Boston to celebrate his twenty-fifth wedding anniversary and his dad's seventy-fifth birthday as a sort of parlay . . . Jack is boss of the circulation department of the Detroit Times . . . Don Meade's story that will start in next Sunday's Advertiser will have the whole town talking . . . It is the best racing story I have had a close-up of in recent years . . . Don says the entire story can now be told . . . Be sure and read it . . . I sat in with Dave Wilson as Meade revealed numerous racing secrets.

Don is a bit upset because some of the fans have booed him when he has run out of the money at Narragansett Park . . . Meade has been in there trying to win every time he has had his leg up on a mount, but he often has not had horses capable of winning.

Bees Extend Farm System

THE BEES have extended their farm system to Bradford, Pa. . . . The Cardinals and Yankees taught other big league clubs it is necessary to have baseball farms to develop young material . . . Most of the minor league clubs are now owned by the majors . . . Next to the Yankees and the Cardinals the Red Sox have the best system of farms . . . It was Little Rock a Sox farm, that developed Woodie Rich, sensational young pitcher.

Joe Cronin has leased a house in Newton Center . . . That story about Cronin becoming president of the Washington Senators pops up every so often . . . Joe will continue to play and manage the Red Sox for Tow Yawkey . . . Cronin still has several years of active playing ahead of him . . . Joe's chief worry continues to be over the Sox pitchers.

Tony Galento drew less than $1000 in three appearances as referee at wrestling bouts in New England . . . Tony refereed at Mechanics Building, Quincy and New Bedford . . . When Joe Jacobs got steamed up over a small payoff of $124 at New Bedford, Galento said:

"My cut after expenses is $50, which will buy me 1000 small beers."

Jack Sharkey refereed a mat bout at the Arena in opposition to the Galento show, and drew $100 more than Two Ton . . . Sharkey was in the late Ernie Schaaf's corner when the latter defeated Galento at West New York . . . The Galento-Louis ring laugh will have to rely upon New York and Jersey patronage to draw the expected $500,000 . . . The talk about a $1,000,000 gate is merely for the purpose of the ballyhoo.

There was a time when Galento was happy if he drew a good steak and some beer . . . Tony has not been spoiled by his new station in fistic circles, which is why he was satisfied with the small touches on his New England wrestling referee tour.

Now Difficult to Become Kentucky Colonel

GOVERNOR ALBERT Benjamin Chandler of Kentucky has made it difficult for one to become a Kentucky Colonel . . . The Governor does not believe anybody should be named a Colonel unless his deeds and conduct entitle him to be appointed an aide to the Governor . . . There was a time when appointments as Kentucky Colonels were as plentiful as tips on Derby Day at Louisville.

Pompoon will be a starter in the Massachusetts Handicap at Suffolk Downs on July 12 . . . Pompoon battled War Admiral to a camera finish in the Kentucky Derby of 1937 . . . Pompoon is five years old . . . As a four-year-old Pompoon won $40,550, while he picked up $18,250 as a three-year-old.

J. H. Louchheim of Philadelphia, owner of Pompoon, will also ship Careful Dinah, a two-year-old, to Suffolk Downs for the Betsy Ross stakes on June 10, and Pharanor and Smart Set to the East Boston track for the Mayflower stakes on July 15.

HARVARD OARSMEN are a busy lot. The ice hardly leaves the Charles River before the Crimson hoard take off—panties and all. This year's squad are a formidable lot and from all appearances will be hard to beat this year.

Eight B. C. Track Stars To Enter Penn Relays

As is usually the case, the famous old Penn relay, held annually at Franklin Field in Philadelphia, this year will be spiced with Boston College flavor.

Eight Eagles will leave tomorrow by boat for the City of Brotherly Love, and under the guidance of Jack Ryder will do every thing in their power to bring honor and glory to the old Maroon and Gold.

Captain Frank Zeimetz, the colorful little Pole frfom Brighton, will lead the group, which will include Joe Zabilski and Ed Swenson, husky weight men, and a frosh relay team. The latter will be composed of John Ballantine, formerly of Boston English, and a Roxbury resident; Fred Seely from Hyde Park, Ed McCarthy out of Medford and Bill Riley of the Brighton Rileys, who competed last year for Boston Latin. Dick Buckley of Beverly will probably make the trip as alternate to this group.

While the work of Zeimetz, Zabilski and Swenson will interest no small number of B. C. rooters, the progress of the Frosh team will bear the brunt of attention. These lads, all standouts, in their respective high school leagues last year, have been turning in great times in the trails this week at the Heights.

In the few meets in which they competed last winter, the team did fairly well. But since the advent of the good weather the boys have been really burning holes in the outdoor track. If they continue the pace this week end, Coach Ryder will be more than pleased.

Ballantine was a flash last year at English. Johnny cleaned up in just about everything and while he has done well in Maroon and Gold shorts, Coach Ryder is confident that he will do much better.

McCarthy and Seely were hot shots at their respective high schools and Riley was something to see in a Latin uniform last year. Buckley, who may replace any of the above four, his time has been so good in the trials, ran wild down on the North Shore. Potentially they're capable of big things, and if the size of Franklin Field doesn't scare 'em, look for their names at the head of their parade in your Sunday paper.

Curry Rugged Mat Opponent

The eyes of the wrestling world will be centered on the Boston Arena tonight when Dave Levin Glendale, N. Y., former heavyweight champion, takes the biggest step in his comeback campaign, meeting sturdy Bull Curry in the main bout of Promoter Sam Price's weekly grappling tournament.

Levin took the crown from Ali Baba who had lifted it from Dick Shikat. It will be easily recalled that Shikat became champion by upsetting nobody but Danno O'Mahony in the N. Y. Garden in one of the wildest bouts on record.

Angelo Cistoldi, Italy, tackles Pat Schaeffer, California, in what should be a sparkling semifinal. A special bout finds Wildman Lloyd Stewart, Lynn, and Florio Dias, Portugal, colliding.

Preliminaries on the list are Leo Alexander, the swift Swede vs. Les Ryan, Fordham and Steve Passas, the Greek Marvel vs. Chief War Eagle, Quebec.

Hagen, Diegel to Aid On Ryder Cup Team

NEW YORK, April 25 (AP)—Walter Hagen, Leo Diegel, Olin Dutra and Ed Dudley will serve with George Jacobus, president of the Professional Golfers Association, on the selection committee to name members of the 1939 Ryder Cup team, the P. G. A. announced today.

The committee will make its selections on August 1 and submit them for approval of the executive committee. The matches with the British team will be played at the Ponte Vedra C. C., Ponte Vedra Beach, Fla., November 15-18.

Punchard Nine Loses Shortstop

ANDOVER, April 26—Punchard High opened its season with a 15—0 victory over Howe High, but its followers are not overjoyed.

Al White, Punchard shortstop, was lost for the season when he broke his leg while sliding to score at the plate in the sixth inning, in which Punchard got three runs.

Super Golfers, Bah!

HAGEN RATES JONES, SELF AS GREATEST

Though he's celebrating this summer the 25th amiversary of his first national open golf triumph, Walter Hagen still gets the light of battle in his eyes at the suggestion there is a new breed of "super-golfer" trodding the fairways these days.

Specifically, the Haig thinks he and the Bobby Jones of a decade ago could have trimmed the pants off the current crop of hotshots, with their stroke-saving sand wedges, their "forty-mile" golf balls and their neatly manicured courses that never give a bad lie.

"Do I think Bobby and I could have held our own in a series of matches with Ralpo Guldahl and Sammy Snead?" gasped Walter. "Why, I'll tell you what. If Bobby would be willing to take off a year from business right now and get himself in shape for a match with those fellows, I would do it, too—no fooling. And then if they wanted to bet us a little on the outcome, that could be arranged."

Walter sounded exactly like he meant it, and he probably did. He's still shooting sound golf, despite the handicap of weakened eyesight and never a golfer lived had the gall and confidence of the old master.

TOOLS BETTER

"Sure, they're shooting a little better average scores than Bobby and I did in our prime," he conceded. "But that doesn't mean anything. This sand wedge they're using now is enough to account for the difference by itself, not to mention that the modern ball rolls 30 or 40 yards further.

"Why, when I think of the ability Jones had in those days and the confidence I had, I don't see how any of those kids could have beaten us. We had to have more courage than they need nowadays to win, and I'll tell you why.

"With this sand wedge in their bags the kids don't have to be scared of traps. After knocking their drives a country mile they can shoot right at the pin with their seconds every time. So they get lots of short putts and lots of birdies. They know if they do hit a trap they still can scrape the ball out with their wedge and probably get a par, anyhow. Anybody can bang the ball with confidence now.

"It took nerve when Bobby and I shot at the pin when there were traps only a few yards in front of it. We knew if we fell short we had lost two or three strokes, maybe a tournament. When we played safe and shot at the back of the green we usually had much longer putts. We had to be good putters. I'm positive Bobby and I could have outputted any two you name of the present top crowd.

NEW BALL HELPS

"I don't know whether Bobby and I drove quite as well as Guldahl and Snead do these days. Certainly not as far, but most of that is due to the new ball. I can get out there now and drive this rabbit pill as far as I was hitting them 25 years ago. That can't be me, so it must be the ball."

In passing, and not necessarily to clinch his argument, Walter mentioned that he had won the British open four times, the U. S. open twice and the P. G. A. match play title five times. He wouldn't even guess at how many championships Bobby, his potential partner against the upstarts, had salted away in his time.

"Thousands, anyhow," he said.

"Let's give these boys a little more time to see what they can do about winning championships," he suggested. "Bob and I want a real run for our money when we challenge 'em to that match."

Blue Peter Captures Newmarket Classic

NEWMARKET, Eng., April 26 (AP)—Lord Rosebery's Blue Peter, favorite in a field of 25, today won the two thousand guineas, first of the English turf's great classics for three-yearolds.

Sir John Jarvis, Admiral's Walk was second and Sir Abe Bailey's Fairstone, third. William Woodward's hypnotist, only American-owned horse in the race, was unplaced.

Blue Peter, held at 5 to 1, finished the mile one and a half lengths in front of Admiral's Walk, a 100 to 7 shot. Fairstone, quoted at 13 to 2, trailed by another three-quarters of a length.

Luftspring Stops Anzalone in Third

NEW YORK, April 26 (AP)—Sammy Luftspring of Toronto, Canadian welterweight champion, won by a technical knockout over Larry Anzalone of New York in 2:13 of the third round of their bout.

English Miler Opens Training For U. S. Classic

LONDON, April 26 (INS)—Sydney Wooderson, British world champion miler, has entered strict training to run the race of his life when he meets Glen Cunningham and other American track stars over the mile at Princeton Bowl on June 17.

The race admittedly will be the biggest moment of Wooderson's career and he will attempt to shatter his world record of 4 minutes 6.4 seconds.

The bespectacled young Briton plans to sail for New York on June 7, for his first visit to the United States.

Cunningham has run a 4:04.4 mile, the fastest ever clocked, but unrecognized because it was made on an indoor track.

Wooderson's first appearance in Britain this season will be made Saturday, when he will run for the Blackheath Harriers against the Royal Medical Corps. The race will be at a mile.

Three weeks later Wooderson will go to the Midlands for an invitation mile race. On May 29 he will be a member of the Kent team for the inter-counties championships at London. On June 6, at Manchester, he will run in a special three-quarter mile event and is expected to try for a fast time in this race, his last before he sails for the United States.

Rockland Selectmen Stop Dog Track Plan

ROCKLAND, April 26 (INS)—Rockland board of selectmen today had nipped a plan to bring dog racing to Hartsuff Park by denying the petition of 500 residents who sought a special town meeting to decide the question.

The board denied the petition for the meeting on the grounds that it was entirely within the province of the selectmen to decide whether or not licensed dog racing should be permitted in the community.

BOB FELLER LOOMS AS LONE 30-GAME WINNER IN MAJORS

By International News Service

If there is a potential 30-game winner in the major leagues today, it is Bob Feller of the Cleveland Indians.

The young man from Iowa always had blinding speed and a great curve. But he lacked control, baseball "savvy" and the poise that goes with those essentials.

Now he seems to have the full equipment that undoubtedly will lead him into the circle of 20-game winners and may even place him among the immortals who have won 30 or more in a season.

HAS TWO WINS

Making his seasonal debut against the hard-hitting Tigers the other day, he gave only three hits and fanned 10. He turned in his second victory yesterday against the White Sox by giving only four hits and fanning nine for a 7-1 decision.

In two games he has allowed a total of two runs, seven hits and has fanned 19. That's wonderful pitching and those strikeouts indicate he may run his total for the season over the 200 mark.

Not the least surprising thing about the early games is the number of rookies who are making good in the big top. The latest to join the ever-growing crop is John Henry Kramer of the Browns via San Antonio.

This big, 21-year-old right-hander let the Tigers down with six hits yesterday while his mates pounded out a 7-2 margin for him.

YANKS AT IT AGAIN

The Yanks, of course, got another well pitched game from Ruffing and Hadley to beat the Athletics, 8-4. Ruffing left at the end of the fifth with a pulled muscle.

BOB FELLER

The ever-amazing champions have made six homers in as many games and each of them was made by a different player, which only goes to show that a pitcher can never find a breathing spot in the Yankee batting order.

The Phillies continue to be the toast of the National League. Doc Prothro's hopefuls have now four straight to their credit and the oldest inhabitant can hardly recall when a Philly team rung up that many victories in a row.

WHO GOT PHILS MAD

They are getting some fine pitching and so long as they continue to get it they will make trouble for all comers. Claude Passeau tamed the Giants with five hits while the Phils slaughtered Melton, who failed again. Lohrman and Brown for an 8-1 win.

Whitey Moore of the Reds had what it takes to trim the Cardinals, 5-1, and Big Bill Lee of the Cubs had little trouble downing the Pirates, 5-3. The Pirates in last place, the Giants in the second division and the Phils in third place—that's something for the book!

Red Sox Rely On Old Mose

Rich, who earned his starting assignment brackets by the quality of his Saturday efforts against the A's, was treated harshly. He soon saw a two run lead wiped out and handed over the worries to Emerson Dickman after awarding a pair of singles, two walks and a pair of runs in one third of an inning.

Hickman didn't do too badly either. But Tom Carey was pressed into service as an eighth inning pinchhitter and Joe Heving wound up the final three innings, the gray-haired sophomore holding on grimly through the final three chapters without having further penalties imposed on the Sox.

It took the Bostons five innings to crash the score column. A single by Gene Desautels and a double by Joe Vosmik converted the first tally.

The Sox forged into a two run lead in the sixth, 4 to 2, when Desautels came up to the plate to find the bases clogged on walks to Cronin and Doerr and a single by Teddy Williams.

The Southbridge red-head crossed up the opposition with a perfectly placed bunt down the first base line. He had it beaten, too, as Cronin came home with the tying run. But Pitcher Joe Krakauskas, in his haste to make the play on Gene, threw into the dirt and Williams also scored, Desautels going to second, Doerr to third. Gaffke then scored Bobby when Travis messed up his liner to shortstop.

Jim Tabor put the Sox back in the ball game in the dying moments of the ninth inning when his single to left scored Foxx from second with the game tying tally.

DiMaggio Hit by Cupid; To Marry After Season

NEW YORK, April 26 (INS)—Joe DiMaggio, lanky wizard of the baseball diamond, couldn't keep his secret any longer and at the Yankee Stadium he took time off to admit that he is going to be married. The girl is the blonde screen, nightclub and radio singer, Dorothy Arnold.

"Yeah," said the sleek haired San Francican, "there isn't any official announcement as yet and we don't know exactly when we'll get married but probably not until after the World Series."

Joe met Miss Arnold two years ago when she was entertaining in a New York night club.

In Hollywood, Miss Arnold, too, admitted the engagement.

"We're going to have a quiet wedding," she said. "It might even be this summer but our honeymoon will be postponed until the close of the baseball season."

She added that her marriage is not going to interfere with her career.

Miss Arnold is 19 and was born in Duluth. She has appeared in "The Storm," "Secrets of a Nurse," "Code of the Streets" and "House of Fear."

HE WHO IS about to be married is "out." The groom-to-be, Joe DiMaggio centerfielder of the Yankees, has just been tagged out by Catcher Hayes of the Athletics as he slides over the plate. Dorothy Arnold, screen actress and radio singer, announced that she and DiMaggio would wed in the summer.

JOE CRONIN CERTAIN TO STAY IN BOSTON

By WALTER KILEY

Joe Cronin smiled off that "chestnut," as he called it, that he's getting ready to quit the Red Sox for Dad-in-Law's Washington Senators . . . "They've pulled that one on me every year since I came to Boston, five years in a row now . . . You'd think they'd get tired eventually."

There seems to be small chance of Manager Joe losing his Boston address for many summers . . . He and Boss Tom Yawkey have become bosom buddies during the past twelvemonth . . . and ditto Wives Yawkey and Cronin . . . who are constantly seen together . . . In fact passage of the months sees the Yawkeys and Cronins drawing closer and closer not only in the ways of baseball but in the social sphere as well.

Cronin's attitude towards baseball was clearly evident in a chance remark made to Teddy Williams, his 20-year-old sensation . . . "Wish I was your age again, Williams, with 15 years of baseball in front of me" . . . Fellow doesn't think that way unless his heart and soul are wrapped up in his business.

Tuesday's ball game might be going yet if Jimmy Foxx hadn't taken the sting out of the frigid winds with his mighty home run blast which broke an 11-inning deadlock . . . That ball might have landed anywhere, even to Kenmore square, so solidly was it hit, as though Double-X were venting his spleen on the Senators for the indifferent fortunes of the Sox over the weekend.

YANKEES HERE TOMORROW

Yanks come to town tomorrow to open a two-game series . . . with Lefty Gomez and Monte Pearson probably the respective pitchers . . . Jim Bagby will get the Sox call against the league's front runners and Auker, probably on Friday . . . then off to Philadelphia and the western hinterlands go the Sox for a two week period . . . as the Bees come home to entertain the Giants on Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

Joe Krakauskas went the full 11 innings for the Nats on Tuesday . . . While he was sparing of his hits through the early moments, his 10 walks kept him in constant hot water . . . He pitched one really bad ball, however, that fast one which he tried to sneak past Foxx in the 11th . . . Jimmy took his cut at the first throw and the game was over.

Foxx also came up with a spectacular fielding gem which cut off any possible Washington rally in the 11th . . . He rubbed Buddy Myer of what looked to be a sure hit when he raced far over towards second, speared the vicious grounder with a stabbing motion and flicked the ball to Heving who covered.

WILLIAMS HITS

Teddy Williams got one out of four, a single which he stretched an added base by alert running, when Wright let the ball get away from him in right field . . . Teddy tried to bunt Cronin and Tabor along a base in the ninth at a time when the game was there for the taking . . . but his best was a pop into Gelbert's mitts, the latter doubling Tabor off first.

Cramer broke a two-game hitless streak when he singled to left on his first trip to the plate . . . Cronin can't see why the cold weather should bother the work of his pitchers any more than it does those of the opposition . . . but he is confident that his staff will respond with extra work . . .

Bishop Wm. E. Emmett

Law has a word for it — bigamy — and Mrs. Kenneth Brenner, Mrs. Wilbur Herman, or Miss Elizabeth Ready faces charges in Roxbury court. It's charged Miss Ready wed Brenner without divorcing Herman.
